PROFILE

I was born in a war zone country, being from a war generation guided me for the necessity of being able to help people community, there were no doctors in my immediate family. I felt responsible and was motivated to focus my time and skills on my passion in life that is medicine.

I am a medical doctor, graduated from Lebanon, done my internship in 2018 and Moved to Ireland to pursue my career.

However, my ambition always drive me to reach my goals in medicine, and this doesn't stop at learning and training ,as I always try and think outside the box and that's how I got a publication around unresolved case . Researches that aims for new discoveries is of interest to me as well.

New discoveries is of interest to me as well.

I have excellent social and communication ability with confident leadership, teamwork and organizational skills. I am flexible and adaptable with changing
